

Writing from a different viewpoint

An open notebook with two blank, lined pages. The pages are cream-colored with horizontal ruling lines. The notebook is centered on the page, and the pages are slightly rounded at the corners. The binding is visible in the center crease.

Make an illustration for your diary entry

